Mt. Beautiful Sauvignon Blanc 2016

North Canterbury, New Zealand

92

POINTS

Michael Apstein,
Wine Review Online

"Although the Marlborough region of New Zealand put Sauvignon Blanc on the map, other regions fashion distinctive and equally enjoyable versions. Take this one from North Canterbury, a region on New Zealand's east coast in the mid-portion of the South Island. Paradoxically, it has more weight and fruitiness than many from Marlborough despite its more southerly (cooler) locale. It maintains a balancing zestiness that keeps it fresh and lively. Another bargain!"

"Smooth and lush with crisp and lively acidity; rich and dense, ripe and long."

"Vividly fruity, lightly herby, spicy and fresh with notes of lime zest, peach, mango, pineapple rind, spring pea and thai red chile skin."

"Distinctive bouquet with layers of mineral and stone then ripe citrus and tree fruit aromas, soft passionfruit and floral notes add depth and complexity. On the palate – just dry and ripe, plenty of acidity gives a crisp and refreshing bite, flavours of hay and, ripe bell pepper and peach and passionfruit, a light mineral quality follows adding length and depth. A really lovely wine with a distinctive NZ cool climate feel with a juicy core of fruit."

Wine Reviews

"The mouthfeel is fresh, elegant and zesty with fine, lacy acidity, and the wine flows along an elegantly proportioned and fine-textured line, leading to a thirst-quenching finish. This is a cooler spectrum Sauvignon Blanc with cut grass, nettly and gooseberry fruit, and suggestions of green beans on an elegant, zesty, mouthwatering palate."
